Supporting your heart health

Heart health is a major concern to most adults, so we formulated 24Seven with the latest heart-health research in mind. 24Seven contains an ample dose of nutrients known to play a significant role in protecting cardiovascular health.* Folic acid, vitamin B6, B12, riboflavin and trimethylglycine are included because they support normal homocysteine levels, a key factor in cardiovascular health.* Inositol is added to help remove fats from the liver and to metabolize cholesterol.* Astaxanthin is a powerful carotene that supports cell membranes, including red blood cells.* When you take 24Seven you are taking a powerful step towards protecting the health of your heart every day.

Herbs and whole foods

24Seven not only provides the basic vitamins and minerals your body needs, but it also contains whole foods such as berries and green vegetables so that you get the broad range of phytonutrients that most multi-vitamins do not contain. Whole foods contain nutrients that have not yet been identified, and they provide important co-factors necessary for the optimum absorption of nutrients.*

Aloe vera and spirulina are two superfoods no one should go a day without. To help ensure this, we have added both of these nutritional powerhouses to each packet of 24Seven. In addition, we have added a blend of foods with an incredibly high antioxidant content. Cranberries, raspberries and the carotenoids combat the effects of aging as they scavenge free radicals in our bodies.*

Order from your RBC Life Independent Associate:
